

Pursuant to Section 150DX of the Local Government Act 2009

In accordance with section 150DX of the Local Government Act 2009 (Qld), Tablelands Regional Council maintains an up-to-date register of councillor conduct.

As a result of amendments to the legislation which took effect on 22 November 2023, Council is no longer required to include “dismissed” matters on the Register.

The following types of matters are included on the Register for the currently serving Councillors:

- Orders made about the unsuitable meeting conduct of councillors, including the chairperson, at its local government meetings.
- Decisions by the local government under section 150AEA not to start, or to discontinue, an investigation of suspected conduct breaches of councillors.
- Decisions about the suspected conduct breaches of councillors referred to the local government under part 3, division 5 and any action taken to discipline the councillor.
- Decisions about whether or not councillors engaged in misconduct or a conduct breach made by the conduct tribunal under part 3, division 6 and any action taken to discipline the councillor.

In accordance with s150E(b), this Register is to be published on Council’s website and available for inspection by the public at Council offices.
